GHSA STATE CHAMPIONSHIP SWINNING & DIVING

PRESENTED BY

FEBRUARY 8-9
GEORGIA TECH AQUATIC CENTER

Upson EMC . Washington EMC

RALPH SWEARNGING GREETINGS, GHSA SWIMMING AND DIVING PARTICIPANTS AND FANS!

Welcome to one of the largest events on the GHSA calendar, the GHSA State Swimming and Diving Championships. Thank you for your attendance and participation at this very competitive event. There have been remarkable performances throughout this season, and it is expected that many of those performances will be surpassed this week.

I want to thank the large number of people who have worked hard all season processing the data that drives competitive swimming and diving. Thanks go out to the staff at Georgia Tech and the volunteers who keep the swimming and diving championships running so efficiently. I also want to thank GHSA Associate Director Dennis Payne and Andy Cowart, GHSA Coordinator for Swimming and Diving, for the leadership they have given to these sports throughout the year.

I hope that you will enjoy your experience at this year's event. Please notice the signs that display the corporate partners that help the GHSA put on quality championship events. If you have the opportunity to support these groups, please do so.

Best Wishes,

Ralph Swearngin GHSA Executive Director

PREVIEWING THE GIRLS

Cobb, Gwinnett teams loaded with stars

By Fletcher Proctor

For years, some of the nation's best female swimmers have called Georgia home, including Olympians Amanda Weir, Kathleen Hersey and Kara Lynn Joyce. Once again, swimming enthusiasts will turn their gazes towards the Georgia Tech Aquatic Center to see another class of young ladies set fire to the pool and blaze their way to state titles.

CHANGING WINDS ...

Ever since the GHSA split the swimming and diving championships into two separate classification brackets, the highest classification title has been handed back and forth between Fulton County (Chattahoochee, Centennial, Northview), Lassiter and Brookwood. The Broncos won last year, ending Lassiter's run of four straight titles, to give Brookwood its fifth title since 2001. Lassiter has won five titles since the split and Centennial, Northview and Chattahoochee all have claimed one since 2000.

Brookwood recently finished second in the Gwinnett County championships, as Mill Creek ran away with the title. Brookwood lost several key contributors from last year including Kelsey Gouge, but coach Greg Puckett has senior Rachel Muller back.

"Muller should be one of the favorites in the 200 free and 500 free," Puckett predicted.

Muller beat fellow Bronco Anna Jahns in the 200 freestyle and 500 freestyle at the Gwinnett County championships. Muller finished second in the 200 free last year and third in the 500 free.

Mill Creek lacks the individual standouts of years past such as Rachael Dudley (2012 100 butterfly, 100 backstroke champion) and Frederique Lefebvre, but look for the Hawks to once again lean on their depth and their incredible diver Lexi Sachse, who won the Gwinnett diving title.

Meanwhile, Lassiter will look to rebound after falling in the Cobb County championships.

"I know that all of our girls are excited about (the championships)," Lassiter head coach Lauren Barnes said. "The second-place finish to Walton at the Cobb County Championships has helped pump them up."

Lassiter will be led by Jordan Drake, Lauren O'Malley and Lexi Glunn.

"Jordan Drake is a fierce competitor," Barnes said. "When she gets in the right mindset, nothing can shake her confidence in a race. Lauren O'Malley possesses a lot of maturity for a sophomore. She is a leader of the team and she motivates others with her grace and positive attitude."

Walton will enter with a lot of momentum after claiming the program's first Cobb County title since 2008 as Kira de Bruyn and Jane Watts were among the top swimmers at the event.

A third Cobb County team could swim away with the title as Kennesaw Mountain should have Rebecca Postoll back from U.S. National Team duties. Postoll missed the Cobb County championships, but the Lady Mustangs still managed to finish third. Postoll's sister, Melissa, was a force in the pool, taking the 100 backstroke and 200 freestyle events. The Mustangs will also be a threat on the diving board as Alex Hart recently set a new school record at the Cobb County championships. She finished second last year to Colquitt County's Elizabeth Kirkland in the one-meter dive.

SMALL. BUT MIGHTY ...

While the A-AAAAA competition includes schools with some of the state's smallest enrollment numbers, plenty of standouts will be ready to compete. Wesleyan recently finished fifth at the Metro Atlanta Swimming and Diving Championships. Rachel Koch was one of the standouts for the Wolves, taking the 100 butterfly. In last year's championships, Koch finished fifth in the event.

The defending champion Westminster Wildcats ended Marist's run of five straight last season, but Westminster owns 20 crowns since 1963, including a run of six straight from 2001-2006. The Wildcats enter with some momentum after beating out Marist and Woodward Academy in the Metro Championships.

Puckett came away impressed by Westminster's Nicole Stafford at the Maddie Brown Invitational.

"(She) should be the favorite in the 200 free and 100 butterfly," Puckett said.

Woodward Academy will look to exact a measure of revenge after recent losses to Westminster. Expect Rebecca Justus and Caitlin Cooper to make some waves after each recently set a school record in the 100 butterfly and 100 backstroke, respectively. Cooper is also a threat in the 50 free, an event she won last year as a sophomore.

"I'd keep an eye out for Kathleen Cook," Woodward Academy coach Kelsey Emerson said. Cook is a freestyle specialist who placed in a number of events last year.

Two names to watch out for in the diving competition are Marist seniors Andrea Demick, who finished second last year, and Taylor Gould, who finished third.

PREVIEWING THE BOYS

Teams excited to swim in top facility

By Stephen Black

There is something special about this pool at Georgia Tech. While there are many tremendous pools around the state that host high school events, the trip to the westside of Atlanta for the state finals is always different no matter how often teams come here.

"Having the state championship at Georgia Tech is awesome," Parkview coach Jack Gayle said. "Tech is one of the best pools in the country. The guys walking into Tech and seeing the stands and the all the people up there gets them pumped up mentally."

After a season full of important meets,

After a season full of important meets, teams that made it to this weekend know how important the state finals meet is.

"That's the meet that matters," Marist coach Terry Blish said. "All the other meets are designed to prepare for that and to get people qualified to swim in that."

Blish and Gayle would know about state championship meets. While Blish has won four boys state titles at Marist in his career, which began at the Dunwoody school in 1973, Gayle has won three boys titles at Parkview since he became head coach in 2004 and was a member of two state championship teams at the Gwinnett program in 1995 and 1998 as a swimmer.

KEY PLAYERS ...

According to the Score Atlanta/GPB swimming and diving polls, the Parkview (Class AAAAAA) and Marist (Class AAAAAA) boys teams are each ranked at the top of their respective classes. However, that does not always mean success in the state meet.

"We've had many upsets in the years that I've been involved," Blish said. "Some would say we've pulled a few of those upsets. It's very often billed as an upset. We've had years when we weren't the heavy favorites and others where some have said the only way we'd lose is if we got lost on the way to the pool."

While Parkview is defending its 2012 boys title, the Panthers know what it is like to be the underdog chasing the team with the proverbial championship belt.

"Last year, we had been second two years ago, and I know that weighed heavily on (the team)," Gayle said. "Our theme was 'V for vendetta,' and they had kind of a mission. That was a big motivation, whereas this year, being the defending state champions is a lot more difficult because everyone is looking to you to perform."

Parkview and Marist certainly have the talent to live up to the expectations No. 1 teams have in this meet. The War Eagles will rely on a mix of veterans and underclassmen this weekend, as seniors Will Herbert and Takunda Mafundikwa lead the team in the relays while junior Braxton Young will be counted on in the 50 and 100 freestyle races. Freshman Christian Lorys has recovered from an illness that sidelined him in the Metro Meet finals two weeks ago, a meet Marist lost by one point to the Westminster boys.

Speaking of the Wildcats, Westminster freshmen twin brothers Derek and Erek Cox will swim in a variety of events, mostly relays and sprints. No. 2 Wesleyan, meanwhile, is anchored by sprinters Luke Hedrick and Drew Middleton.

Parkview, the defending boys state champion and current Gwinnett County champ, is led by seniors Nathan Jones, Dillon Kasson and Rory Martin. Alpharetta, the No. 2 team in the state, will provide strong competition as will Cobb County powers Walton and Lassiter, which are ranked third and fourth.

Walton, the Cobb County champ, and the Lassiter will attempt to bring the first-place trophy back to Cobb, where it hasn't been since 1999 when Pope won it. A Gwinnett program has won each title since in the state's largest class. Nathan Hufnagle led the Raiders to victory two weeks ago at the county meet, where he won the 100 breaststroke and 200 IM, while the Trojans boasted strong performances by Zach Bunner (100 backstroke, 100 butterfly), Jimmy Yoder (200 freestyle, 500 freestyle) and Daniel Bridgers (50 freestyle, 100 freestyle).

AS IT WERE ...

Parkview has been on fire lately, beating rival Brookwood in a head-to-head meet, then winning the county meet. The Panthers, it seems, are swimming their best at the right time of year.

"Yeah, I think so," said Gayle when asked if his team was peaking. "I think a lot of it is that we're really fortunate to be able to swim (against) our great rival Brookwood at the end of the season and go right into the county championships. I think that really helps our swimmers and the Brookwood swimmers because its a great 'pump-up' meet that gets everyone really excited."

While the Panthers are trying to defend their state title from 2012, Marist will try to win its first boys state championship since 2009 and seventh in school history. Wesleyan is two-time defending Class A-AAAAA champion. Westminster, meanwhile, will attempt to bring home state hardware in the boys meet for the first time since the Wildcats won six straight from 2003-2008. Walton won the championship in 1983, while Alpharetta and Lassiter are each looking to win state gold for the first time.
